From Father Ian

February 2022

A couple of months ago, in the Bugle, I began to engage with the question of the nature of scripture. What is the bible? Is it literally true? If not literally true, does this mean that it is just phoney; all those bible stories that we heard and learned as children?

Well, no. It is not phoney, and it contains much that God wants us to know. But it is a complex collection of disparate material, gathered from many different cultures and historic periods. It holds together intellectually, academically, spiritually, aspirationally and liturgically, thus providing us with a means to understand God's work in the world.

Used wisely, in an informed way, it speaks eloquently of God's love through the ages, showing his mercy and faithfulness. Use it improperly, and God can seem to be cruel and vengeful.

So, as we look at each book of the bible we need to ask:

Who wrote this book?

Why was it written?

What was going-on in the country and culture from which this came?

What might it tell us about God, and perhaps about Jesus?

In our readings at the Sunday Mass, the chief, most important reading is from one of the gospels, and in the church's cycle of readings this is Year C, in which we will mostly hear Luke's Gospel.

If you would like to dip your toe into some bible study then a good start would be to have a biblical commentary focusing on Luke.

Why not call into St Olav's Bookshop in North Street and find a commentary that suits you? Or look, online, for commentaries on the Lectionary readings.

Best wishes,

Father Ian

With the kind encouragement of the Bishop

I shall be taking a sabbatical this year.

I will be 'off duty', and engaging in some study and some travel, during March, April and May.

I am excited about the opportunity to enliven and refresh my thinking.

The March edition of the Bugle will contain all necessary information about the clergy who will kindly be covering duties for me.

Fr Ian

We were so disappointed at having to postpone the Dog Show in October due to such horrendous weather conditions! However, we are now looking forward to holding it on March 26th, hopefully on a lovely spring day.

As on previous occasions, we are requesting help from friends and neighbours in setting up the show from 9am and clearing away from 5pm.

We will need lots of cakes for the cake stall and for the afternoon teas. Helpers are needed in the kitchen all day, on a rota basis, and also outside to take refreshments to the judges and stewards who work so hard in the show rings.

Young people who can act as 'runners' are vital, to help take messages etc, saving our older legs in the process! We have found that children enjoy being involved, and we are so grateful to them.

Please come and support the show and make it a real community event, helping to boost the funds of our Village Hall and Priory.

PRIORY SUNDAY SCHOOL

The plan is to meet, for the moment, on the third Sunday of the month at 10.20am in the St Blaise Centre, and go over to the Priory for the second half of the service. Therefore, bearing in mind half-term dates at the end of February, we look forward to our first meeting on Sunday 20 March.

Children should be aged between 4 and 11 and they must already have started school. They are asked to arrive promptly, so that the objective of the session can be explained to everyone at once. There is no charge and parents do not need to accompany the children. They don't need to bring anything with them - just to come along!

For further information about our Sunday School, please contact Amy O'Leary by email at Amy.oleary1@outlook.com.

We are looking for more volunteers to support the Sunday School. If you would like to find out more, please contact Amy O'Leary (as above).

Flower arranging without Oasis

Saturday 12 February 2022

10.30am – 1.00pm

Boxgrove Priory Church, Boxgrove

Boxgrove flower arrangers are moving with the times and trying to reduce our landfill contributions, as well as renewing our skills and floral effects.

Various alternative methods will be explored: using pot-et-fleur, plants, test-tubes, chicken wire and combinations of real and artificial plant material.

There will be no charge for this EXCEPT a willingness to be added to the flower arranging rota for the Priory at least once a year.

Please contact Sue Organ, sue.organ@zen.co.uk or 01243 788604, to express your interest, obtain more details or register for a place.

THE OPTIMISTIC GARDENER

High Trees, 1st February 2022 ~ No.50

Retrospective

As always, in order to enjoy to the full, and in colour, all Janet's pictures, readers are encouraged to read this article online via the 'Bugle' page on the Priory website: <http://www.boxgrovepriory.co.uk/bugle.html>

At present the garden is lying under its cosy duvet of rotting vegetation from last year. I tell myself that it is a good idea to leave the seed heads of my rudbeckia, verbenas bonariensis and sedum for the birds in the icy wastes of January, but really it is sheer idleness. However, with the gradual rise in temperature which we get at this time of year, I get the urge to hunt out the secateurs and reveal the irises and snowdrops - wonderful harbingers of spring.

The onion seeds are already growing in the propagator in the greenhouse. I was told many years ago that you should plant your onion seeds on Boxing Day to give them the longest possible growing season. Of course, this is only possible if you have some heat in the greenhouse. And Boxing Day is an aspirational date - I mean who has the time on Boxing Day to be out in a cosy, heated greenhouse away from the visitors? I did actually manage this in 2020, when we had an entirely different sort of Christmas thanks to Covid, and we are still eating the results - always room for optimism in the Reeves' household!

The potatoes are chitting in their egg trays in the spare bedroom. As usual we were unable to settle for just one or two varieties so have ended up with Rocket, Swift, Desiree and Nicola, the last one being a tried-and-tested, delicious second early.

There are always failures as well as successes in the garden. The secret of good gardening is learning from your mistakes and having an optimistic outlook. OK - so we did manage to poison all the tomatoes in both greenhouses with polluted horse manure last year, and on replanting new plants in fresh compost we then got powdery mildew and a heavy dose of blight! But on the up-side I have learned which varieties are blight resistant and we still managed to be eating the few remaining ripening tomatoes in December! Do you know the trick about ripening the last remaining green tomatoes in a cosy cupboard cuddled up with a ripe banana? It actually works!

Maybe I should remind you about my garden. We have been at High Trees since 1988, when we took over a rather neglected acre of land with a few fruit trees worth preserving, some splendid if overgrown shrubs, acquired from the waste heap at a local nursery by the previous High Trees incumbent, and a couple of very large hen houses. Without the hens in, I hasten to add!

Naturally, our first task was not to replace the kitchen, or make the bedroom bearable, but it was to renovate one of the two sheds into a hen house for considerably fewer than forty hens, which is what each one could hold! We next acquired some hens, which we were guaranteed were all female - as well as the four hens we ended up with two cockerels. One was extremely active in the procreation field so we called him Randy; the other was obviously Notser. We were very lucky to have a lovely neighbour called Doug who was a real countryman. He could turn his hand to anything, and of course he knew how to dispatch poultry. So our first cock-o'-the-roost was Notser, the gentler of the two!

We wanted to have a garden which was mainly organic, although have relaxed our principles somewhat in order to get on top of bindweed which encroaches from two sides of the garden beyond which are grazing fields for horses. So the organic way to start the vegetable patch was to cover it over for a year. A lovely sight from the bedroom window for that first year was the rolling 'acres' of black plastic glistening in the sunshine. It did the trick. It meant that we were able to uncover a little at a time to start the double digging process which we hoped to have to do only once - did I mention that idleness is one of my main temptations?

Nowadays we eschew plastic (what a wonderful word - I must use it more often!) and cover weedy patches with thick layers of cardboard and top that with compost.

In this photograph taken during our first year at High Trees you can see the seedling of Pinus Radiata (the Monterey Pine), grown from a cone taken from a tree blown down in the 1987 Great Storm. Thirty years on we now have a giant pine at the bottom of the garden which is a favourite perch for many birds - including our local buzzard!

Over the years we have developed the veg patch and now have three greenhouses, one tool shed, a fruit cage, a brassica cage, four compost bays and twenty-six raised beds - which, amazingly, is still not enough at the height of the season when we are trying to follow a strict rotation system. At one time Gerry, the under-gardener, started to build brick raised beds with a view to finishing the whole patch eventually. However age and inertia took over and we now have about ten brick beds and the rest made with treated wood. Being raised beds they have never (well rarely) been trodden on so they don't need double digging and in the course of thirty-three years have developed into a beautiful rich soil, thanks to the horses around us!

People often ask us whether we are self sufficient, to which Gerry replies, 'Yes, in garlic', but in fact we have several crops that we never buy - because we eat seasonally. My favourite is asparagus eaten half-an-hour after picking - hard to beat.

Other main parts of the garden include an area of apple trees (orchard is too grand a word for it), a wild area, the pond which we built ourselves based on the John Brookes' design which can be found at Denmans, down the road. There is the euphemistically named 'woodland walk', leading to the poultry park, and nearby the two bee hives. The bantam house is attached to our second fruit cage, which Gerry and my dad built and the bantams use as their run - except when the cherries are ripening.

Anyway, enough of the garden tour. I hope over the coming year to be able to bring you some of the highs and lows of having this personal patch of paradise. The high at present is the glorious colour of my patch of cornus alba - 'Westonbirt' - a vibrant red which is gleaming even on this grey day of non-stop drizzle. Now, where did I leave those secateurs?

BOXGROVE PARISH COUNCIL

Parish Council report

The Christmas tree which was sited on the green in front of the Almshouses was very well received and decorated by one or two of our residents. The tree was generously donated by a resident of the Village, and here I repeat the thanks to him from us all. It's the first time I've known a tree be sited in the Village, and judging by the enthusiasm for it we must try and do it again in the future. Both Villages were very well illuminated during the festive season.

The Boxgrove Rangers have been busy again: there are now three secure cycle racks adjacent to the windmill car park, encouraging cyclists to enjoy the walk up to the windmill without the fear of finding their bikes missing on return! The final and closing action to fully complete this new parking area will be the placing of a millstone with suitable acknowledgment attached thanking the Rhys Jeffreys Foundation Road Fund for the generous contribution towards the cost of it all. This cost, of course, was shared by West Sussex County Council, Inert Recycling and Boxgrove Parish Council.

The hedge to the Village Hall Car Park has once again been trimmed to a very high standard; I receive many compliments about the tidiness of it all.

Cllr Jim Buckland is progressing with the rewilding programme the Council has agreed to, and I can say that permission in principle has been agreed with landowners to plant some trees at various locations on the common and alongside the last leg of the footpath up to the windmill. This is the stretch of sparse hedgerow which lends itself to the addition of some trees.

Her Majesty Queen Elisabeth II's Platinum Anniversary Celebrations are in mind: a grant by CDC of £250 has been offered towards cost of a party or other form of celebration which the PC will take up, and we have plans to light a beacon on Halnaker Hill as we've done in the past. There will be more news of this in the not too distant future.

Our resident litter picker, Percy 'Bruce' Woodcock, has retired and there is no replacement (yet!), so I ask you all PLEASE when you are out and about to pick up the odd bit of litter here and there. We have provided many litter bins around the Parish. We are aware of one or two of you who have made it a habit to do just that and we thank you sincerely. The Parish generally is a tidy place so let's try and keep it that way.

The next Parish Council will be on Monday 7th February at the usual time of 7pm. Under current guidance, the meeting will be a hybrid affair: if you wish to attend virtually using the online Zoom platform just contact Imogen our Clerk for joining instructions; or simply turn up at the Village Hall. We do observe distancing and wear face masks if preferred - your choice. It would be nice to see more faces at our meetings.

With my best wishes,

Henry Potter

Chairman of the Parish Council

BOXGROVE & TANGMERE JULIAN GROUP MEETINGS 2022

The Boxgrove & Tangmere Julian Group has been meeting in thought (at home) through lockdowns on the second Monday of each month at 3.15pm (previously at The Priory Church of St Mary & St Blaise, Boxgrove). Notices confirming details of meetings are placed on the church noticeboard.

As some concern and distancing continues, and due to uncertainty of meetings, members could perhaps give time each Monday to reading the Psalm.

The themes for the first three Julian meetings in the current season are as follows:

14 Feb 2022	Psalm 48, v 13 For this God is our God for ever and ever : he shall be our guide unto death (The Book of Common Prayer)	To be advised - Boxgrove
14 Mar 2022	Psalm 86, vv 4 & 5 Comfort the soul of thy servant (The Book of Common Prayer)	To be advised - Boxgrove
11 Apr 2022	Psalm 118, vv 26-29 Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord (The Alternative Service Book)	To be advised - Boxgrove

*May our dear Lord, who has given us the Psalter and the Our Father, and taught us how to pray them, grant us also the spirit of grace and supplication, that we may with delight and resolute faith truly pray without ceasing, for thus it behoveth us.
He has commanded it and desires that we should.
To him be praise and honour and thanksgiving.*

(A prayer by Martin Luther from The Reverend Beryl Rundle)

IT'S TIME TO OVERHAUL THE PRIORY ORGAN

The organ in Boxgrove Priory is small but beautiful. It's astonishingly versatile and, over the years, has provided the 'soundtrack' to thousands of services. But it is now in need of some TLC.

The plan is to dismantle it and take sections of it to the Organ Builder's workshop. Once there, it will be cleaned very thoroughly and all the leatherwork will be renewed. Then, returned and rebuilt in the Priory, it will serve us again, well into the future.

It costs money, of course, and we still need to raise about £15,000. Many thanks to those who have helped us by making donations, or by approaching Trusts and the like. We have a way to go with this project, but we are hoping that, with one more 'push', we shall be able to make the restoration happen.

Boxgrove Quarry Update December 2021

The Boxgrove Quarry restoration project and the parallel Onces Barn were agreed to be completed by the end of 2021 when the additional work and the project extension was agreed in July 2020.

Inert have now given an update.

All the fill material needed for the main restoration project is on site and by the end of December the Onces Barn project will also have all the necessary material.

This means that the procession of HGVs through Halnaker will have finished by the New Year.

There will, however, remain a significant amount of movement of materials on site using heavy plant which will have to take place over the coming months. This will be followed by landscaping, planting and fencing.

Inert expect that this work will continue throughout 2022.

A liaison committee meeting is to be arranged in the New Year when further information will be made available.

PRIORY PILGRIMAGE TO WALSINGHAM

Covid lockdowns and restrictive protocols have meant that the Parish pilgrimage to Walsingham in both 2020 and 2021 could not proceed. Pilgrim groups have now returned to Walsingham and I am pleased to tell you that a booking has been made for The Priory for the weekend of 6-8 May 2022.

Our previous pilgrimages have been in September and October, so it will be lovely to be there in May with longer days and spring in the air.

There are limited places available, so if you would like to join us please let me know as soon as possible. If you have not been on pilgrimage to Walsingham before and would like to know more about it, please do not hesitate to speak to me in church or on 07720 889187.

Walsingham has not yet published the tariff for 2022 but I expect this to be available in November, at which time I will let you know the cost of the weekend. It is probably worth mentioning that the deposit will be only £30 per person with the balance payable in April 2022.

It's never been a better time to have a buying agent on your side

*By Jennifer Hancock,
Director at Property Acquisitions*

I read and hear about stories of frustrated country house buyers all the time, who either can't find a home they desire, are being continuously outbid on the little stock that is available, regret the location they have moved to or have paid too high a purchase price. Buying agents have never been so busy as a result, as savvy purchasers realise that in today's current market, they stand a far better chance of securing their dream house in the West Sussex countryside or on the coast, at a fraction of the cost, with somebody who is actually on their side.

So what is a buying agent and why are we proving so valuable in today's property market?

A buying agent is a property expert who acts on behalf of the purchaser to find them a new home and to buy it. Anybody who is looking via an estate agent won't be offered quite the same opportunities and advice because of course the company is acting on behalf of the seller and not the buyer. Whereas a buying agent's job is to actively find a house that matches their clients' requirements, before negotiating the price and terms on their behalf. They also provide valuable advice to ensure purchasers are buying the right property in the right location for the right price, and to put them in the best possible buying position to maximise their chances of appealing to a seller.

People use buying agents for all sorts of reasons. Perhaps they don't have the time, are relocating and are not familiar with the location or they have just had enough of the intense buyer competition on the open market. Whatever the reason, there are plenty of benefits:

Access to off market homes

It is no secret that demand far outweighs supply at the moment, which is making it very hard for people to find the dream country house they want in West Sussex. However, there are actually properties for sale, it's just that they're not seen online or in an estate agent's window display - they're selling 'off market' or 'quietly' as it's also known. The joy of a buying agent is that a good one will have great connections with local estate agents, combined with their own insight into local village life, and will know what is coming up for sale - often weeks in advance of the general public being made aware. A buying agent's clients tend to therefore be the ones who get first dibs on these houses, offering a much better chance of finding something with less competition.

Stop you overpaying

Anything in a sellers' market has been selling over guide price generally, as demand has been so intense, but a good buying agent will provide advice on what is the best offer to present based on the seller's situation. They will have done all of the homework for you already so that they know the seller's reason for sale, and whether there will be any unexpected costs in terms of repairs or renovations that may need doing. This ensures you don't overpay as tempting as it may be - something I have seen a lot of during Covid-19!

Positioning you as the best buyer

It's not always about offering the highest price for sellers. Depending on their situation, they may want to leave as soon as possible, so somebody who can move the fastest tends to hold most appeal. A good buying agent will only work with a purchaser who is ready to financially proceed, so this puts them in good stead in the eyes of the seller in this situation immediately. I've also worked on deals where the sellers have lived in a house for many, many years with their children, and want to find a buyer who has a young family themselves who wish to bring them up at the property like they did. With sellers struggling to find a home themselves to purchase, some are looking for buyers who are prepared to agree to a delayed completion to allow them more time to find something. It's all about 'selling' the buyer into the seller and knowing what sort of price they will accept, and this can only truly happen by knowing exactly what the vendor's story is.

Saving time

Buying agents can save purchasers a lot of time and stress from searching for a property, especially if you are not familiar with the location. They'll do all the research, find houses you are actually looking for and will conduct viewings first, before short-listing what they feel are the best ones for you to view yourself. This saves a lot of time wastage on finding something and on viewings, where properties don't end up being what they appear to be on paper.

Honesty

If there are any negatives or concerns for a property, price or the location, a buying agent will tell you. If the house is next door to a pig farm, it's probably not going to smell very nice. If the main road on the door step is notoriously noisy, you're probably going to regret living there. If the price is too high, or offers are going in way over guide, it's probably best to walk away. This level of honesty and advice provides a safety net of getting the location right, not having any unexpected costs further down the line such as expensive repairs, and not over paying.

Did you know that whenever you buy anything online - from your weekly shop to your annual holiday - you could be raising free donations for Boxgrove Priory with easyfundraising?

There are over 4,500 shops and sites on board ready to make a donation - including Waitrose, Sainsbury's, Tesco, Amazon, eBay, Argos, John Lewis, Laithwaites Wine, Booking.com, M&S, the AA and the RAC to name but a few - and it won't cost you a penny extra to help the Priory raise funds.

All you need to do is:

1. Go to https://www.easyfundraising.org.uk/causes/boxgrovepriory/?utm_campaign=raise-more, and join for free.
2. Every time you shop online, go to easyfundraising first to find the site you want, and start shopping.
3. After you've checked out, the retailer will make a donation to Boxgrove Priory at no extra cost to you whatsoever!

There are no catches or hidden charges, and the Priory will be really grateful for your donations.

Thank you for your support.

Could You Join 4Sight Vision Support's 100-4-100 Campaign?

West Sussex charity 4Sight Vision Support is marking its 100th anniversary year with two special '100' related fundraising campaigns.

100 participants are invited to sign up for the '100-4-100' challenge with the aim of doing 100 of something to each raise £100! By taking part you will be raising vital funds to provide specialist services for blind and sight impaired adults and children across the county, and at the same time having fun doing something you enjoy 100 times over!

A number of participants have already signed up: Fundraising Manager Chloe Neilson-Hopkin is growing 100 plants to sell, while Julie Branson, Fundraising Manager (maternity cover) will be walking 100 miles in 100 days. Two people have made a £100 donation each and one supporter has even enjoyed 100 gin and tonics and made a donation! Perhaps you could bake 100 cakes, read 100 books, swim 100 lengths, or play 100 rounds of golf - whatever it is you like doing!

In addition, 4Sight Vision Support will be running a Centenary Prize Draw. Tickets will be available from mid-January from its offices in Bognor Regis and Shoreham, costing £1 a ticket, in books of x10. Prizes include a tour for two people of Hepworth Brewery in Pulborough, four tickets for Rock of Ages at The Hawth Theatre, Crawley next May, a £30 voucher for the Giggling Squid Restaurant, Chichester, a Firebird Brewery beer gift pack, a gift token for the Regis Centre, Bognor, and a stunning metallic table lamp worth £145 from Reynolds Furniture in Bognor.

Julie Branson and family
take up their 100-4-100
walking challenge

The closing date is Friday 4 March and winners will be drawn on Monday 7 March. Full Ts&Cs can be found on the website.

INVESTING IN A FAIRER WORLD

"The way we work we have learned from the bees. Back to back. Shoulder to shoulder. If we are capable of putting into practice 1% of the way that bees in a hive work together, I believe we could solve 99% of our problems."

Shared Interest helps people in the developing world to earn a fair living. By investing between £100 and £100,000 in a Share Account, UK residents enable Shared Interest to provide much needed finance across the globe. Last year alone, Shared Interest helped over 400 organisations in 58 countries. Fairtrade honey co-operative Apicoop, in Chile - whose farmers regularly face earthquakes and volcanic eruptions - moved into blueberry production with a Shared Interest loan.

Chino says, "Due to the last eruption, we lost 5,000 hives, which is a significant number for the beekeepers in that area of Southern Chile. Luckily, because we are a co-operative, we don't just rely on one area for our production. We moved into blueberries so as to not put all of our eggs into one basket. It was a way of protecting ourselves 'just in case'. Never think your small contribution cannot make a difference. Every bee that enters one of our hives can only carry a very tiny amount of nectar. But when you open our hives and they are bursting with honey, you realise how each bee has played its part."

It's the same with Shared Interest investors. It's when we all do our small part that we make the biggest difference. As an investor in Shared Interest, you become part of our supporter community. As well as receiving our quarterly newsletter either by post or online, you may also like to attend one of our events across the UK to meet with other investors and discover the difference your investment makes. As a member, you will have an equal voice and vote regardless of investment size. You can open a Share Account today with £100 upwards.

For local information, contact Tim Pullan - 01243 532065. To find out more direct from Shared Interest, call 0191 233 9102 or email membership@shared-interest.com.
